

The legal world's portal into the most interesting and innovative insurance coverage law information product on the market today!

Following a Proud Tradition of Excellence

Over 80 years ago, the National Underwriter Company started the Fire, Casualty, & Surety Bulletins (FC&S) service and it exists to this day as the premier property and casualty information service, providing objective information—particularly in the area of insurance policy interpretation—to all types of insurance professionals. The current FC&S Online permits subscribers to retrieve over 5,000 documents through a state-of-the-art content management system and graphical user interface. Today's FC&S Online brings information and analysis to the desktops of thousands of insurance professionals throughout the world.

FC&S Legal: The Insurance Coverage Law Information Center

Due to tremendous demand from the legal community, we have expanded our focus to meet the insurance coverage law information needs of busy legal professionals working in private practice or in-house and representing either policyholders or insurance carriers. FC&S Legal: The Insurance Coverage Law Information Center was developed by an experienced team of experts to ensure that attorneys have access to the most comprehensive and up-to-date insurance coverage law information available anywhere, wherever and whenever they need it.

Why Subscribe?

FC&S Legal is the only easy-to-use, one-stop shop giving insurance coverage law attorneys access to the most timely, authoritative, comprehensive, and exciting insurance coverage law information available—whenever and wherever they need it. Whether you are an attorney practicing insurance coverage law in a large law firm, a boutique or in-house, whether you represent policyholders or insurance companies, or whether you are an insurance company or corporate executive who wants to keep apprised of the latest in insurance coverage law, we know you will find FC&S indispensable. There is simply no more valuable insurance coverage law resource than FC&S Legal available anywhere else in the market. You will wonder how you ever got along without it!
